

Foundations of Teaching English Learners

Offered as a one-week intensive course in Sussex, New Brunswick

July 16–20, 2018

Professor Marika Ravin
TESOL Program Advisor
Cairn University

A foundational course designed to prepare mainstream classroom teachers to work with English learners (EL). Students gain an understanding of the linguistic, social, cultural, and academic needs of ELs, as well as research-based strategies to adapt instruction and assessment to meet those needs. Two hours of field-based observation in a K-12 pull-out classroom is required.

LOCATION/SCHEDULE

- Sussex Christian School
45 Chapman Drive
Sussex, NB, E4E 1M4, Canada
- Monday, July 16 to Friday, July 20, 2018
- 8:30 am–4:30 pm

COST/TUITION

$714 USD for three-credit course ($238 USD/credit hour)

REGISTRATION DEADLINE

May 15, 2018

Required pre-course materials and assignments will be available via eLearning in May.

TO REGISTER OR FOR MORE INFORMATION

Visit cairn.edu/online-msed or contact Luke Gibson, graduate admissions counselor, at lgibson@cairn.edu or 215.702.4363

For official course schedule information, please visit cairn.edu/registrar

Upcoming Online Courses in 2018-2019 for Educators

- BIB 621 Biblical Integration for Educators
- EDU 656 Reading and Writing Across the Curriculum for Diverse Learners
- EDU 703 Teaching Models and Instructional Strategies
- EDU 712 Curriculum Theory, Design, and Assessment
- EDU 717 Theoretical and Philosophical Foundations
- SPE 661 Foundations of Special Education
- THE 601 Overview of Christian Theology
- EDU 716 Global Trends in Education

Other electives will also be offered in TESOL, Special Education, and Educational Technology.

Visit catalog.cairn.edu for course descriptions.